

Hatonn

Hatonn is the Commander of a huge intergalactic fleet, and He is also director of all communications between Earth and all stations in charge of the Earth changes. Hatonn is a very lofty Consciousness, developed in various evolutions and worlds, and we do not comprehend much of this super intelligence and technology, he represents.

He and some crews and ships have descended into lower levels, to adapt to present missions on Earth and in this Solar System. For this purpose, and aboard His starship, He uses a specially made body, manufactured by scientists at one of the higher space labs. This body is sexless (android), hairless, with no outer ears. His “eyes” have various qualities and are used for projecting rays and charges. This vehicle is supple, can be physically visible or not, and seems to possess amazing properties and characters, mineral and organic combined, and contains an abundance of hi-tech. He has got a bit of nose and mouth, maybe in order to look a little “familiar” to us. The body charges itself with energies, sorts of prana, and needs no physical sustenance.

Still, it is a sacrifice to such high consciousness as that of Hatonn, or to that of Ashtar, to descend to such density, such problems, as ours. But it doesn't normally take Them much effort or higher technology, to do the jobs here, no, it is a matter of obeying God-given Universal Law, only to be of assistance when it is granted. But now, at the peak of crisis, where the draconians and their minions are going desperate, using their most sinister electro-mind - and bio- weapons, dispensations are growing fast in number and volume. There is tremendous purpose in turning Earth and Its people on to original God-given sovereignty. Here, Hatonn appears to be chiefly engaged at nuclear- and DNA development. But His real and favorite home and dwelling is Deep Space.
